Steriods are really good but the side effects are awful so an alternative would be good. fecal transplant may be a way forward, and it is always good to follow alternative treatments which probably are not so harsh on the body.

 154,605,383	Eventually, I would like to wean myself from any medications other than alternative medicines, but nothing has produced the positive results that I am having from this biologic.	Tuesday, May 17th 10:54PM
 154,599,919	I have issues with the side effects of conventional "Western" medications and am seeking alternatives.	Tuesday, May 17th 8:56PM
 154,589,409	If there was a strong possibility I would be cured I would try it if at least I was assured that the trial would not leave me worse off.	Tuesday, May 17th 6:01PM
 154,583,448	the least or less harmful effects is a priority for me	Tuesday, May 17th 4:35PM
 154,582,912	I'm most interested in this possibility.	Tuesday, May 17th 4:32PM
 154,581,571	I am willing to try a number of different things to work towards remission without surgery	Tuesday, May 17th 12:12PM
 154,559,400	I've been in remission for 6+ months using my current medication. I'm really interested in a "cure."	Tuesday, May 17th 11:52AM
 154,546,031	have already been treated with Humira and Remicade. Neither helped and caused dire side effects.	Tuesday, May 17th 9:16AM
 154,534,320	most probably i feel have tried alternate, been on steroids, so inspite of mañy side effects will remain oñ Asacol as keeps bleedñg at bay	Tuesday, May 17th 6:12AM
 154,530,520	Lived on steroids for 16 years. Most other meds don't work as well. Had UC since 1991, had severe reaction to Simponi after 3 months recently. I have Taken lialda since 2010, helps along low dose prednisone. But now, prednisone has increased my blood sugars and taking diabetis meds. Any alternative would be nice.	Tuesday, May 17th 4:54AM
 154,530,121	I did FMT . Pro and pre biotics sound good but tend to make my UC wise willing to explore that. Don't want drugs that will make me sicker or cause weird side affects like what is currently available. I would try more alternate therapys like Accupuncture.	Tuesday, May 17th 4:46AM
 154,530,120	I am interested in just about anything that can help. Antibiotics are over subscribed currently, so not sure that is a the right approach	Tuesday, May 17th 4:50AM
 154,526,422	There has to be a more holistic 'cure' to UC other than bombarding the body with nefarious drugs which quell the symptoms but open up another can of festering ailments! Bring it on!	Tuesday, May 17th 3:13AM
 154,525,949	That's the future and also it is the safest.	Tuesday, May 17th 3:16AM
 154,522,747	I hate steroids. I don't know what biologics are.	Tuesday, May 17th 1:52AM
 154,514,923	Might be willing to try other treatments but these two interest me most at the present time.	Monday, May 16th 8:52PM
 154,514,314	I'm interested in alternative methods of treatment. Sometimes medicine just causes other problems.	Monday, May 16th 8:38PM
 154,507,640	I have been on Humira Injections since Jan of this year. No improvement as yet.I have no Drug plan on my Medicare Insurance so not many choices of meds. Humira is free for me for one year and then what?	Monday, May 16th 5:56PM
 154,506,592	I am fearful of medications and their side effects.	Monday, May 16th 5:44PM

 154,503,031	I have tried most common medications, therefore would be more interested in trying something different.	Monday, May 16th 4:14PM
 154,501,449	Because I've tried a lot of the above meds, I'm Interested in alternative ones now	Monday, May 16th 3:34PM
 154,501,213	The more healthy options the better	Monday, May 16th 3:16PM
 154,500,558	I want to know about the more stronger drugs.	Monday, May 16th 3:03PM
 154,492,007	I think biological treatments would be better for the body and have far less side effects if any	Monday, May 16th 12:20PM
 154,487,534	The more natural the treatments with fewer to no side effects the better.	Monday, May 16th 10:43AM
 154,482,321	Not sure if diet is included in your list of trials but should be, also the effects if smoking or not as this was my trigger at 56 years old.	Monday, May 16th 9:12AM
 154,479,891	Alternative treatments are already working for me. Medications were a flop. Because of a heart condition and advanced age, biologics that would weaken my immune system are out of the question for me.	Monday, May 16th 7:16AM
 154,479,689	First only interested in medications that are in Stage III or IV of testing. Too many things can go wrong and I have had to deal with U.C. over 10 years which has compromised my health situation enough.	Monday, May 16th 8:36AM
 154,479,275	The above is within my comfort zone with medicine.	Monday, May 16th 8:31AM
 154,475,914	This disease like many others is related to damaged food supplies. I think if you read the book wheat belly you can understand my position I think any medical issue should be treated primarily and initially through diet I am tired of	Monday, May 16th 7:16AM
 154,475,899	Interested in learning about all new treatments.	Monday, May 16th 7:22AM
 154,475,688	Looking for treatment not having side effects	Monday, May 16th 7:20AM
 154,475,452	Trying to get of the heavy duty meds with all the horrible side affects	Monday, May 16th 7:15AM
 154,474,824	I am, unfortunately, well versed in all these areas, but interested to see if there is anything new out there and if there is a doctor willing to discuss something other than cutting my guts out!	Monday, May 16th 7:02AM
 154,474,360	Medictaions with the least side effects are best. No medications would even be better.	Monday, May 16th 6:50AM
 154,472,391	with all medications there are risks and side effects. My preferred option would be a less invasive medication with less long term side effects	Monday, May 16th 6:02AM
 154,466,191	Steroids and Western Medicines made me sicker...	Monday, May 16th 2:47AM
 154,465,689	Prefer non-invasive methods if possible	Monday, May 16th 2:16AM

 154,464,597	I feel these treatments are the way we should be going. For roo long a 'one size fits all' approach has been applied often with detrimental effects on patients.	Monday, May 16th 1:41AM
 154,464,588	Because I have been 5 years in remission and med free and I would like to Help others	Monday, May 16th 1:43AM
 154,463,265	Do not have experience of fecal transplant.	Monday, May 16th 12:27AM
 154,462,699	All info worth considering	Monday, May 16th 12:03AM
 154,462,416	presently on vedulimumab and is seeming to work	Sunday, May 15th 11:44PM
 154,462,406	I am allergic to most of the U.C. drugs, or they cause side effects that damage my body in many other ways. We need to find the cause of this, which I suspect is a virus like shingles (for my condition) due to the way it reacts to stresses of illness, etc.....and will not heal with out great restrictions to my diet.Even then, it is set off by any little bug I get.Symptom	Sunday, May 15th 11:38PM
 154,461,994	As safe as possible	Sunday, May 15th 11:23PM
 154,461,621	I'm done with prescribed medications. The end results are far worse than the UC itself.	Sunday, May 15th 11:03PM
 154,461,416	Currently steroids work best for me compare to biologics	Sunday, May 15th 10:45PM
 154,461,283	Fecal transplants are out unless absolutely necessary, for obvious reasons. Although I think alternative treatments may be interesting in combination with traditional medications, I would not be comfortable quitting my current medications in order to test them out.	Sunday, May 15th 10:39PM
 154,460,742	I think there is a lot of promise with the treatment I selected. I have never understood why the standard treatment today is immune suppression unless it's a life saving treatment.	Sunday, May 15th 9:56PM
 154,459,868	I would rally like the fecal transplant I think that could work if I had the money for it and if insurance would pay that would be my go to!	Sunday, May 15th 9:45PM
 154,459,811	Mum interested in anything that will let me lead a normal life!	Sunday, May 15th 9:39PM
 154,459,665	I would like something to bring remission forever, without all the trips to the Dr.	Sunday, May 15th 9:25PM
 154,459,240	Any treatment is worth research and trials.	Sunday, May 15th 9:00PM
 154,459,010	I don't really trust medications	Sunday, May 15th 8:51PM
 154,458,861	I'm not sure I have a definitive answer. I what I tried when I had colitis.	Sunday, May 15th 8:44PM
 154,458,348	Interested in natural treatments.	Sunday, May 15th 8:22PM
 154,458,163	My 20 year son recently received this very devastating diagnosis and is having a difficult time, I'm praying for help and a miracle.	Sunday, May 15th 8:10PM
		Sunday, May 15th

		Accupuncture saved my life at one point...massage therapy would be a great addition to your list.	8:12PM
15	 07	I would have to carefully research the medication thoroughly before I would commit to any untried treatment from big pharmaceutical companies. Alternative treatments have saved me thus far.	Sunday, May 15th 8:07PM
154,458,018
		I heard about this on the internet.	Sunday, May 15th 7:49PM
154,457,771
		Less invasive. Fewer side effects. There is a descending order to the treatment preferences.	Sunday, May 15th 7:52PM
154,457,697
		I have heard good things about this procedure and good results	Sunday, May 15th 7:27PM
154,457,157
		The more we know about the effectiveness of the various meds and treatments through clinical trials the better the doctors could decide what meds would be best for their patients	Sunday, May 15th 7:11PM
154,456,876
		I have heard good result with this treatment alternative	Sunday, May 15th 6:49PM
154,456,360
		The more knowledge I can attain the better for me to make informed choices in my treatment of UC.	Sunday, May 15th 6:43PM
154,456,353
		I'd be willing to try almost anything. I already know biologics don't work for me, without causing some bad side effects, so I don't think I'd want to try those again.	Sunday, May 15th 6:45PM
154,456,287
		I have tried several meds. and still have some problems with UC.My diabetes and cholesterol are under control.	Sunday, May 15th 6:36PM
154,456,189
		I don't know the answer to this one	Sunday, May 15th 6:29PM
154,456,094
		I had a terrible bout of pan colitis that came out of the blue - no previous colon trouble. I have no residual effects - no cramps, no bleeding, no bloating, etc, but my colon is almost completely useless (significantly scared). Medications and my system do not sleep together. Toilet paper is my companion!	Sunday, May 15th 5:56PM
154,456,092
		Any treatments would be amazing!	Sunday, May 15th 6:19PM
154,455,846
		I will try anything that could get my colitis into remission or even (dare i say it?) cure it.	Sunday, May 15th 6:17PM
154,455,784
		I prefer the more natural treatment other than the steroid I currently use.	Sunday, May 15th 6:05PM
154,455,626
		some meds are too expensive anyways for me, side effects	Sunday, May 15th 5:46PM
154,455,225
		My daughter is currently doing crazy well in humira.... So many alternatives to this was already tried.	Sunday, May 15th 5:39PM
154,455,119
		Everything has a side effect. Would rather gave side effect from something natural. Biologics mess with your cellular structure.....which has worse consequences than living g with the disease itself.	Sunday, May 15th 5:10PM
154,454,539
		Prefer no medication if possible	Sunday, May 15th 5:12PM
154,454,395
		Any meds that do the job without major side effects	Sunday, May 15th 4:56PM
154,454,142

154,454,096	not sure	4:58PM
154,454,031	A drowning man clutches at straw!	Sunday, May 15th 4:51PM
154,453,473	When I'm going through a flare, I will consent to just about anything to get my life back. Going through full blown flares of uc have been the worst experiences of my life and I would go through just about anything to be healthy. There were times that I had just wanted to die it was so painful and debilitating.	Sunday, May 15th 4:29PM
154,452,963	Due to huge side effects of steroids I want to avoid and get an alternative	Sunday, May 15th 4:27PM
154,452,733	I have been using the biologics for 6 months. Don't like the long effects that could happen to your body	Sunday, May 15th 4:17PM
154,451,888	I'm interested in anything that could help	Sunday, May 15th 3:49PM
154,451,717	Alternative treatments usually do not have an isolated active ingredient that is able to be studied	Sunday, May 15th 3:45PM
154,451,503	Very interested in fecal transplants as I hear they are effective. I would also like to learn more about alternative treatments as I feel there must be a cure somewhere. I'm tired of being treated with maintenance drugs that often carry more side effects than the disease! When you thin of UC being inflammation, there has got to be a simple cure out there somewhere.	Sunday, May 15th 3:35PM
154,451,368	Not interested in anything related to antibiotics as these have caused big trouble for me when I am sick.	Sunday, May 15th 3:33PM
154,451,104	Have tried everything else	Sunday, May 15th 3:22PM
154,450,939	I prefer the medicinal approach, but that hasn't worked for me to date and so I'm open to all avenues that would be helpful and present a non steriodal and non surgical solution. A cure would be just peachy. :)	Sunday, May 15th 3:13PM
154,450,880	I have tried Entyvio and I believe it has had the best efficacy so far	Sunday, May 15th 3:10PM
154,450,706	Diagnosed in 2013, slowly coming to the realization that I will have to take medication for the rest of my life as it slowly gets worse. Any other sternerstive treatment sounds like the goods	Sunday, May 15th 3:02PM
154,450,527	I'm in remission initially via Remicade. Then overlapped with Paleo diet and was able to stop Remicade once I confirmed (after my last 3 consecutive treatments) that I was experiencing severe painful side effects that had been building in severity over a year. I feel extremely strongly that lifestyle and dietary management are gravely underrated and under-supported by western medicine and it's long overdue time to stop that insanity. It's a digestive disease and I'm sick of hearing that diet has nothing to do with it. Granted, my current MDs are more open to that than 10+ years ago, but still. With all the research into the gut micro-biome, I'm hopeful modern western medicine will get a clue and promote less harmful means of disease management. If there is a natural way to heal yourself, you should be informed and then it can be your choice if you prefer to abuse your body with crappy food and lifestyle choices and take your temporarily "magic" pill or you prefer the initially harder steps of transforming your diet and lifestyle. The magic pill later becomes the next magic pill or the next magic infusion or injectable, I know many of us know this to be true! Sorry, soap box there a little. Do not mean to judge any fellow sufferers, just judging the western medicine model. That said, in crisis, western medicine is the magic bullet that can save your life when it becomes a life threatening illness, natural means aren't as quick in times of true crisis/near death.	Sunday, May 15th 2:48PM
154,450,466	Anything that doesn't involve chemicals.	Sunday, May 15th 2:55PM
154,450,399	Don't like the side effects of biological etc	Sunday, May 15th 2:53PM
154,450,303	I believe this would be more beneficial	Sunday, May 15th 2:42PM

 154,450,065	I'm using the more natural ideas to help with my UC	Sunday, May 15th 2:42PM
 154,449,953	I'm open to everything, especially stuff that's not meds, e.g. fecal transplant and alternative methods	Sunday, May 15th 2:32PM
 154,449,925	I'm interested in all possible treatments.	Sunday, May 15th 2:27PM
 154,449,243	I'm open to all.	Sunday, May 15th 2:14PM
 154,448,633	Frightened of medications. I've suffered renal failure before.	Sunday, May 15th 1:54PM
 154,448,087	They are what I'm familiar with	Sunday, May 15th 1:29PM
 154,447,563	Not fecal, concerns about ending with other people's problems. Not a believer in non western treatments.	Sunday, May 15th 1:12PM
 154,447,494	The more I look into stuff, the more natural ways seem better	Sunday, May 15th 1:12PM
 154,446,588	Open to anything and everything to find a cure!	Sunday, May 15th 12:47PM
 154,445,516	It seems that all prescribed medications have side effects, some of which are worse than what is being treated. I would like to get away from drugs and find a more homeopathic treatment for my UC.	Sunday, May 15th 12:10PM
 154,444,411	These selections have the lowest potential for serious side effects	Sunday, May 15th 11:40AM
 154,444,402	Not interested in treating it...i would prefer to CURE it and nothing else!!	Sunday, May 15th 11:32AM
 154,444,365	I do not want to take anything that could potentially put my health at more risk like steroids.	Sunday, May 15th 11:39AM
 154,444,286	Anything that will possibly help	Sunday, May 15th 11:33AM
 154,443,989	Slightly working	Sunday, May 15th 11:31AM
 154,443,583	Interested in any meds that can help	Sunday, May 15th 11:18AM
 154,443,542	The others are all pretty invasive or I have problems already (with antibiotics, for instance.)	Sunday, May 15th 11:18AM
 154,443,445	I wasn't sure what to pick	Sunday, May 15th 11:13AM
 154,443,305	I am convinced that UC is the microbiome out of wack at least in large part, and that there are many things a person can do for themselves short of taking the more harmful medications like immune suppressants. More research needs to be done in these areas of treatment.	Sunday, May 15th 11:09AM
 154,443,258	I had tried the hole palet.	Sunday, May 15th 11:13AM

 154,443,070	I have found more success with alternative methods- and I really think that the secret to it all is related to our gut bacteria.	Sunday, May 15th 11:09AM
 154,442,874	I have been going to a homeopathic nutritionist to maintain my colitis	Sunday, May 15th 11:01AM
 154,442,869	I really believe that the disease occurs because of many natural factors, consequently I feel that it can be avoided or cured in the same manner. If traditional medication isn't curing the disease then I believe it's just masking the root cause. I don't know, I feel like I'm rambling now?!	Sunday, May 15th 10:57AM
 154,442,837	I've have believed that this disorder is caused by a combination of undigested food in the intestines / sensitivity to gluten and dairy resulting in painful sparce and frequent bowel movement(sometimes much blood with little fecal matter). I've had a good result using "Una DE Gato " (Cats Claw) for the bleeding if it gets repetitive.Very good for inflamation.	Sunday, May 15th 10:45AM
 154,442,797	Medications are absolutely important, but I love to see focus elsewhere. Testing the effects of diet or alternative therapies.. Something that benefits us and not pharmaceutical companies.	Sunday, May 15th 10:47AM
 154,442,715	I have had no luck on any of the above	Sunday, May 15th 10:51AM
 154,442,685	I am open to any treatments that would have a positive impact on active UC and to improve quaiuty of life.	Sunday, May 15th 10:44AM
 154,442,671	I would like to know more about alternative treatments	Sunday, May 15th 10:50AM
 154,442,670	Not sure I would do a clinical trial. Would not want to be part of the control group receiving only a placebo pill especially if I'm in a flare. I understand they treat the control group if their condition worsens but really, uc can get bad really fast and take months to get back in remission. I'll be very interested in reading about the experiences of other UC'ers who have participated in a clinical trial.	Sunday, May 15th 10:26AM
 154,442,660	Don't like biologic or steroids	Sunday, May 15th 10:50AM
 154,442,451	I m interested in other than regular medicines	Sunday, May 15th 10:45AM
 154,442,365	Medications are not the answer. Fully convinced UC I'd caused by bacteria/parasite or some sort of foreign antigen that needs to be eliminated from the GI tract	Sunday, May 15th 10:40AM
 154,442,212	Because UC is or can be a very debilitating disease testing down a persons quality of life. So we need cures actually more than maintenance meds.	Sunday, May 15th 10:23AM
 154,442,155	I would just like to learn of ANYTHING new.	Sunday, May 15th 10:23AM
 154,442,142	Anything progressive	Sunday, May 15th 10:32AM
 154,442,040	My daughter was recently diagnosed with UC and the doctors are unable to control the fevers. No one knows where these fevers are coming from. Her UC is still not under control	Sunday, May 15th 10:32AM
 154,441,929	This seems to be having a positive outcome.	Sunday, May 15th 10:25AM
 154,441,810	I want to take only medicine in morning	Sunday, May 15th 9:38AM
 154,441,760	I'm not sure I know enough about non/biologics to suggest I would participate in those trials. There need to be alternatives to steroids for every major illness.	Sunday, May 15th 10:23AM

154,441,700		I have no interest in prescription medication and the additional damaging side effects they will impose on my body. I'm open to healthy alternatives to heal myself.	Sunday, May 15th 10:16AM
154,441,578		I have taken lots of steroids and I know they helps but at same time I know they are harmful. So what's a alternative ? What is holistic that works ? I've tried so many and nothing seems to work.	Sunday, May 15th 10:11AM
154,441,515		This has helped in past. I am unwilling at this point to try bios	Sunday, May 15th 10:11AM
154,441,426		All current meds are poison and have affected my son adversely. His body cannot tolerate any poisonous treatments.	Sunday, May 15th 10:11AM
154,441,245		I've have had flares and active disease since diagnosed I'm resorting for anything that could help me and others	Sunday, May 15th 9:58AM
154,441,169		Biologic costs are out of control. Pharmaceutical companies are greedy.	Sunday, May 15th 10:02AM
154,440,986		Just anything that could improve the situation for IBD patients, as an additional therapy or as a new therapy.	Sunday, May 15th 9:56AM
154,440,745		Will not consider antibiotics of any kind since they are linked with problem to begin with, biologic side effects sound serious, don't know enough about fecal transplant.	Sunday, May 15th 9:53AM
154,440,650		I'm over taking meds to keep my UC under control and supporting the drug companies. Anything to help resolve my UC without long term side effects.	Sunday, May 15th 9:48AM
154,440,548		Almost any solution is preferable to the disease.	Sunday, May 15th 9:48AM
154,440,471		I do not take any medication from the doctor, I make it myself, and have better results	Sunday, May 15th 9:39AM
154,440,461		I have taken steroids many many times over the 28 years that I have had colitis. At the beginning they worked really quickly and got me back to my normal very well. I did have many side effects, I.e. Sleeplessness, weight gain generally feeling lethargic and mildly depressed to name but a few. Each time I have taken them they take longer to work with more enhanced side effects. The last time I took them, approx 15 months ago, they took around 4to 5 weeks to kick in and I felt dreadful on them. I now have refused to take them and try my best to manage a flare with probiotics, aloe Vera, turmeric and a very careful diet. I want to find something that will mangle my flare as quickly and efficiently but without the side effects that I have encountered with steroids. Nothing else has ever worked for me during a flare. I currently take 2 doses of 2grams pentasa daily, which work as a management fairly well.	Sunday, May 15th 9:33AM
154,440,367		I'm not interested in taking more medication.	Sunday, May 15th 9:45AM
154,440,298		I am interested in the medical community researching treatments with less side effects	Sunday, May 15th 9:43AM
154,440,247		I would be interested in learning from others, but do not want to be the guinea pig	Sunday, May 15th 9:36AM
154,440,184		My case is not bad enough for me to use any Medes ...other than probiotic . I can pretty much control it with my diet....so far	Sunday, May 15th 9:37AM
154,440,129		Open to all	Sunday, May 15th 9:38AM
154,440,064		I would be interested in other treatments to immune suppression	Sunday, May 15th 9:35AM

	Been there, done that - 30+ years later, still no cure. Too old now to want to participate.	Sunday, May 15th 9:27AM
154,439,921		I think it would be beneficial to find solutions that don't require strong medicines....if there was something that could cure or put UC into remission that was considered an alternative treatment, I would most definitely choose it over pharmaceuticals.	Sunday, May 15th 9:22AM
154,439,744		I am ready to take my healing in the journey of reversal rather than maintenance. I believe and TRUST that my UC can be reversed even when Gastro Drs disagree.	Sunday, May 15th 9:23AM
154,439,734		Anything but Prednisone.	Sunday, May 15th 9:26AM
154,439,679		I am only willing to put natural things into my body, now, after having used many UC meds and finding them not tolerable and harmful.	Sunday, May 15th 9:24AM
154,439,643		It's probably medical stuff that's caused all these problems. Need to get back to having naturally functioning immune systems. We lived for two millenia before all this	Sunday, May 15th 9:14AM
154,439,607		We as patients with UC have to study all types of medical treatments.	Sunday, May 15th 9:18AM
154,439,556		I am concerned about side effects and find that I am more risk adverse than my doctors. So would not want to commit to taking a particular drug.	Sunday, May 15th 9:17AM
154,439,466		I feel a as if these treatments would cause less to no side affects in regards to Biological and steroids.	Sunday, May 15th 9:09AM
154,439,432		Want to know what the side effects are	Sunday, May 15th 9:15AM
154,439,419		Im open to anything at this point	Sunday, May 15th 9:16AM
154,439,379		I have an ileostomy due to UC but still have moderate to severe UC in my rectum. The surgeon left that piece and my anal sphincter for the possibility of future j-pouch surgery.	Sunday, May 15th 9:13AM
154,439,319		I definetly don't want steroid medication. Started out with that and felt hungry all the time.	Sunday, May 15th 9:13AM
154,439,317		I'm worried about the long term effects of some treatments.	Sunday, May 15th 9:08AM
15	 35	I'd be open to anything.	Sunday, May 15th 9:08AM
154,439,115		i dont think medications are going to cure any thing. The only why you can find a cure is to quit eating all the bad food	Sunday, May 15th 8:58AM
154,439,065		Because My DR says there is no proof that they work and they are very expensive to try on my own and how long does one take them?	Sunday, May 15th 9:04AM
154,439,024		I am a natural type and definitely prefer the non western forms of treatment by a long shot. But my UC is very aggressive and I have had to use many different types of medicine. Finding something that works would be amazing. Western or alternative.	Sunday, May 15th 9:05AM
154,439,012		I do not like to take medicine. I'm trying digestive enzymes and probiotics now to see how that works.	Sunday, May 15th 9:00AM
154,438,871

 154,438,848	Because I have read that there is evidence of effectiveness. I have also read sufficiently to understand that gut microbes interact with the body in a most complex way and that an infusion of new microbes might kick-start recovery.	Sunday, May 15th 8:57AM
 154,438,845	Let's face steroids are not good for you long term. Antibiotics for sure are hard on your guts. Probiotics and prebiotic share good for anyone's digestive tract. There are alternative treatments that help.	Sunday, May 15th 8:58AM
 154,438,766	I would like a natural treatment because I get headaches from the medications.	Sunday, May 15th 8:56AM
 154,438,664	I've pretty much tried everything	Sunday, May 15th 8:57AM
 154,438,651	Hate steroids and modern medicine has been a temporary fix.	Sunday, May 15th 8:55AM
 154,438,610	I do not have insurance anything that I can't afford currently which is most treatments is interesting to me	Sunday, May 15th 8:56AM
 154,434,993	Long term use of medications and possible side effects is one of my main concerns	Sunday, May 15th 7:16AM
